SPRIEVODCA DATABÁZAMI PROJEKTU

ChemicalBusinessNewsBase (CBNB)(EngineeringVillage)

Databáza je popredným poskytovateľom globálnych správ a informácií z chemického priemyslu. Hľadá fakty, čísla, názory a pripomienky k chemickému priemyslu v celosvetovom meradle. Zdroje zahŕňajú stovky hlavných obchodných časopisov, novín a firemných bulletinov, knihy, správy z výskumu trhu, výročné správy a priebežné správy spoločností, tlačové správy a ďalšiu „šedú literatúru“. CBNB ponúka možnosť vyhľadávania cez rýchle vyhľadávanie alebo cez indexy.

Rýchle vyhľadávanie

1. krok

Po zvolení si databázy, v ktorej chceme vyhľadávať, zadáme do hlavného poľa výraz. Môžeme vyhľadávať v abstrakte, titule, zdroji titulu alebo v ich kombinácii.

Dosiahnutie požadovaného výsledku je možné upresniť o jazyk (napríklad angličtina, čínština, japončina), typ dokumentu (napríklad článok, kniha, reklama) a o roky vydania publikácie.

An appliance including a two-way radio frequency identification (RFID) device for dynamic communications, with for example, an RFID reader used by a technician. The RFID device may include an electronic controller structured to control operating functions of the appliance. The RFID device may further include a storage medium structured to store information about the appliance and computer-executable instructions operable to control the operating functions of the appliance. A transmitter may be incorporated allowing the appliance to send and receive dynamic data between the appliance and one or more remote RFID devices using two-way communication protocols at all levels.

The screenshot shows a web browser displaying an article from ACS Publications. The article title is "Activation of Ammonia Borane Hybridized with Alkaline-Metal Hydrides: A Low-Temperature and High-Purity Hydrogen Generation Material". The authors are Yu Zhang, Keiji Shimoda, Takayuki Ichikawa*, and Yoshitsugu Kojima. The article is published in J. Phys. Chem. C, 2010, 114 (34), pp 14662-14664. The abstract section features a graph showing Weight Loss (%) vs. Temperature (°C) for NaH/0.5LiH/AB, with curves for Thermogravimetry, Mass spectroscopy (H₂), and Mass spectroscopy (NH₃ x 20). A diagram illustrates the ball-milling process of NH₃BH₃, NaH, and 0.5LiH to form NaH/0.5LiH/AB. The right sidebar contains navigation tools, SciFinder links, and related content.

VYHLÁDÁVANIE II. (vyhľadavanie podľa indexov)

1. krok

Okrem klasického vyhľadavanie je v Chimice možnosť vyhľadávať podľa indexov. V ponuke sú indexy autorov, afiliácií, kontrolovaných termínov a zdrojových titulov zoradené podľa abecedy.

The screenshot shows the gVillage search interface. It includes a search bar, a "SELECT DATABASE" section with checkboxes for All, Compendex, Chimica, CBND, EnCompassLIT, US Patents, EP Patents, and Referex. The "SEARCH FOR" and "SEARCH IN" sections allow for multi-term searches across all fields. The "LIMIT BY" section includes filters for document type, treatment type, languages, and dates (1970 to 2011). The "SORT BY" section offers options for Relevance, Publication year, and Autostemming off. A "Browse Indexes" dropdown menu is highlighted, listing Author, Author affiliation, Controlled term, and Source title.

2. krok

Kliknutím napríklad na zdrojový titul sa otvorí ďalšie okno, z ktorého je možné vybrať akýkoľvek zdrojový dokument. Po zadaní sa zobrazí v hlavnej tabuľke. (Výber je možné kombinovať s ďalším indexom, napríklad autorským.) Po opätovnom možnom zúžení požiadaviek podľa rokov sa dostaneme k výsledku.

The screenshot shows the Engineering Village search interface. The search bar contains 'M' and the selected index is 'Source title'. The interface includes a 'SELECT DATABASE' section with options like 'All', 'Compendex', 'Chimica', 'CBNB', 'US Patents', 'EP Patents', and 'Referex'. There are also search filters for 'LIMIT BY' (Document type, Treatment type, All languages) and 'SORT BY' (Relev, Auto). A list of search results is displayed, including 'MACROMOLECULAR CHEMISTRY AND PHYSICS', 'MACROMOLECULAR MATERIALS AND ENGINEERING', 'MACROMOLECULAR RAPID COMMUNICATIONS', 'MACROMOLECULAR SYMPOSIA', 'MACROMOLECULAR THEORY AND SIMULATIONS', and 'MACROMOLECULES'. The 'Source title' link is highlighted in the right sidebar.

3. krok

Naša požiadavka na periodikum Macromoleculatheory and simulations z indexového vyhľadávča upresnená o roky 1988-2011 nás priviedla k počtu 666 záznamov. Cez tlačidlo full-text nás prepojí Chimica s databázou s plným článkom.

The screenshot shows the Wiley Online Library interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with 'PUBLICATIONS', 'BROWSE BY SUBJECT', 'RESOURCES', and 'ABOUT US'. A login section is visible on the right with fields for 'Enter e-mail address' and 'Enter password', and a 'REMEMBER ME' checkbox. Below the navigation, the breadcrumb trail reads: 'Home > Materials Science > Polymer Science & Technology General > Polymer Science & Technology > Polymer Science & Technology General > Journal Home > Vol 19 Issue 6 > Abstract'. The main content area features the journal title 'Macromolecular Theory and Simulations' and the article title 'Conformational Behavior of Bottle-Brush Polyelectrolytes with Charged and Neutral Side Chains'. The authors listed are Qianqian Cao, Chuncheng Zuo, Lujuan Li, and Nan Zhang. The article was first published online on 9 JUN 2010, with a DOI of 10.1002/mats.200900088. The page includes a search bar, a sidebar with 'JOURNAL TOOLS' and 'FIND ARTICLES', and a bottom section with 'Abstract', 'Article', 'References', and 'Cited By' tabs. The abstract text is partially visible at the bottom of the page.

Vo vyhľadávani v databáze Chimica je možné kombinovať rýchle vyhľadavanie s indexovaným prehliadaním.

Detail strany

The screenshot shows the 'Page Details' section for a book. The book title is 'Fluorinated Ionomers' with page number 194. The author is Grot, Walther. ISBN-10 is 0815515413 and ISBN-13 is 9780815515418. The chapter title is '12: Toxicology, Safety and Disposal' and total pages are 231. The year is 2008 and the publisher is Plastics Design Library. The page highlights mention heat sealing and repair exposing the polymer to temperatures. Keywords include acids, air, applications, combustion, contamination, decomposition, dermatitis, industrial applications, gases, materials, membranes, ionomers, rats, plastics, skin, testing, repair, stability, tobacco, ventilation, and toxicity. A 'Add a tag' box is visible on the right with a dropdown menu set to 'Public' and a search field containing 'del.iclo.us'.

Detail knihy

The screenshot shows the 'Book Details' section for 'Fluorinated Ionomers'. The book description states it is a unique handbook on working with partially fluorinated and perfluorinated polymers. It includes a 'Table of Contents' with 12 chapters: 1 - Introduction, 2 - History, 3 - Manufacture, 4 - Properties, 5 - Applications, 6 - Fuel Cells and Batteries, 7 - Commercial Membrane Types, 8 - Economic Aspects, 9 - Experimental Methods, 10 - Heat Sealing and Repair, 11 - Handling and Storage, and 12 - Toxicology, Safety and Disposal. A 'Keyword Cloud' on the right lists terms such as chlorine, ionomers, membranes, and fuel cells.

The page title is "Fluorinated Ionomers" by Grot, Walther, ISBN-13: 9780815515418, 231 pp, Plastics Design Library, 2008. The page number is 194. The main content area displays the following text:

12 Toxicology, Safety and Disposal

12.1 Toxicology

The acute oral toxicity of perfluorinated ionomers is quite low. For rats the oral LD50 is higher than 20,000 mg/kg body weight. However, perfluorinated ionomers will release toxic gases when exposed to temperatures in excess of about 250°C. There are three likely scenarios for such an exposure:

- 1) Fire. While perfluorinated ionomers will not sustain combustion in air, they could be involved in a fire of other materials. Self-contained breathing apparatus should be worn under these conditions.
- 2) Heat sealing and repair exposes the polymer briefly to temperatures of about 300°C. Adequate ventilation should be provided for these operations.
- 3) Contamination of tobacco products.

Plný text knihy

The screenshot shows a PDF viewer interface. The top toolbar includes options for 'Save a Copy', 'Print', 'Email', 'Search', 'Review & Comment', and 'Sign'. The main content area displays the 'Preface' page. The text in the preface discusses the increasing importance of mathematics in physical, biological, and engineering sciences, and the resurgence of interest in modern and classical techniques of applied mathematics. It mentions that remarkable progress has been made recently in both theory and applications of all important areas of control theory. The preface also mentions that modern automatic control theory covers topics such as the algebraic theory of linear systems, controllability, observability, feedback equivalence, minimality of realization, frequency domain analysis and synthesis, Lyapunov stability theory, input-output method, optimal control, observers and dynamic feedback, robust control, delay-systems control, the control of infinite-dimensional systems, conflict and game situations, stochastic processes and effects, and many others. The preface concludes by stating that many suitable texts exist (practically there are no textbooks) that tackle some of the areas of investigation mentioned above. Each of these books includes one or several

Hybrid Porous Materials for Dental Applications

MIRIAM ESTEVEZ, GERARDO FONSICA, SUSANA VARGAS AND ROGELIO RODRIGUEZ*

Centro de Física Aplicada y Tecnología Avanzada
 Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México
 Boulevard Juriquilla 3001, Querétano, Querétaro 76250, México

ABSTRACT: New hybrid polymer-ceramic obturation materials were developed using synthetic hydroxyapatite, two different types of ceramic particles, and a polymer with a high agglutination capacity, high abrasion resistance, and good adhesion to the dentin. Silica nano-particles of 16 nm and alumina micro-particles of 3.2µm were used; this difference in sizes allows a better packing of the particles into the resin rendering in an improvement in the mechanical and abrasion properties. The resin reacts with the dentin and the ceramic particles improving the adhesion with the substrate and reducing the micro-filtration in the interface dentin-obturation material. Additionally, to protect the obturated dental piece against staining, a transparent and glossy dental coating with a high scratching resistance was also designed.

KEY WORDS: hydroxyapatite, alumina micro-particles, silica nano-particles, dental coating, obturation material.

Abstract

Humans are exposed to radiological hazards from natural radiation sources that exist mainly in the earth's crust. Radon is a noble gas and is formed by the decay of ^{226}Ra , which is one of the nuclides formed in the disintegration series from ^{238}U . Building materials are considered as one of the major sources of radon in the indoor environment. Radon is one of the indoor sources that cause radiological health risk. To study radon exhalation rate, samples of sand, gravel, stone, cement, granite,

The sociological turn in information science

Blaise Cronin
Indiana University, USA, bcronin@indiana.edu

Abstract

This paper explores the history of 'the social' in information science. It traces the influence of social scientific thinking on the development of the field's intellectual base. The continuing appropriation of both theoretical and methodological insights from domains such as social studies of science, science and technology studies, and socio-technical systems is discussed.

[X] The Prevention of Depression and Anxiety in a Sample of High-Risk Adolescents: A Randomized Controlled Trial

Abstract

This study investigated the efficacy of cognitive behavioural therapy (CBT) techniques in preventing depression and anxiety in a group of adolescent high school students with elevated risk for developing emotional disorders. Students were screened using a measure of depression severity and clinical interview. Following screening procedures, students at risk for, but not currently diagnosed with, depression were randomly assigned to one of two intervention groups: a CBT (n = 25) or an active control group (n = 21). Assessment measures were administered before treatment, after treatment, and at 3- and 6-month follow-up. Both groups exhibited significant improvements in mood symptomatology and self-esteem outcomes over time. Significant differences between groups were not observed at posttreatment and two follow-up points of assessment. The efficacy of CBT techniques was also examined using a "benchmarking" strategy. The limitations of this study and future research directions are discussed.

Zobrazenie abstraktu

The screenshot shows the abstract page for the article "Intellectual Property Law as an Internal Limit on Intellectual Property Rights and Autonomous Source of Liability for Intellectual Property Owners" by Elizabeth F. Judge. The abstract text reads: "This article considers the interplay between intellectual property rights and classic property rights raised by Hoffman v. Monsanto (2005) and advances the idea that intellectual property law can serve as an autonomous source of liability for intellectual property owners. The article develops the conceptual advantages of demarcating physical and intellectual properties and allocating rights and responsibilities based on the respective property sphere. It introduces a theoretical Hohfeldian framework, in which the grant of a positive limited-term monopoly right entails a corresponding duty, to establish intellectual property law as a source of internal limits on intellectual property rights. The article is a prolegomena to a detailed matrix of those rights and duties within intellectual property law. This matrix could support patentee duties that go beyond public disclosure of the invention and could establish patent law as an alternative legal framework to tort law to address harms caused by inventions." The page also includes a list of keywords: exhaustion, first sale, Hoffman, Hohfeld, genetically modified organism, GMO, intellectual property law, and Schmeiser. The page layout includes a navigation bar, a search bar, and a sidebar with options to view the current issue and submit a manuscript.

Beyond Leadership and Management: The Boundary-spanning Role of the Pro-Vice Chancellor

Colin Pilbeam and Ian Jamieson

Abstract
 With the global increase in networked forms of organizations come new challenges for the conceptualization and practice of management and leadership. Universities have a networked organizational form being composed internally of multiple groups with both complementary and conflicting characteristics and expectations, and interfacing externally with a wide range of different stakeholders. Eight pro-vice chancellors (PVC) from a formal network of chartered UK universities were interviewed. The PVC role comprised strategic and operational activities associated with their functional role, and representational and decision-making duties associated with their membership of the senior management team. All of these activities required them to operate across multiple internal and external boundaries, and especially emphasize the information processing and representational functions characteristic of boundary spanners. It is argued therefore that management and leadership roles in universities may be more parsimoniously conceptualized as boundary spanning. The implications of this for recruitment to senior positions in universities are considered.

Keywords

Introduction
 In a globalized world, organizations, including universities, interface with other organizations across multiple boundaries at many different levels, to access resources, share information or to work collaboratively or cooperatively to produce goods and services. Increasingly the traditional forms of organizing, conceived as markets or hierarchies by Powell (1990), are giving way to networked organizational forms facilitated by developments in information and communication technology (ICT). While networked organizational forms remain the norm in the third sector, they are increasingly common in the private sector, where alliances and joint ventures increasingly occur

Shared Leadership and Organizational Citizenship Behaviour in Jordanian Public Universities: Developing a Global Workforce for the 21st Century

Samer Khasawneh

The Hashemite University, Zarqa, Jordan 13115, samer70802@yahoo.com

Abstract

This article reports on an investigation of the impact of shared leadership on organizational citizenship behaviour among faculty members in Jordanian public universities. A sample of 558 faculty members employed by three public universities in Jordan participated in the study. The results indicated that shared leadership is moderately practised in Jordanian public universities based on the perceptions of faculty members. Moreover, faculty members exhibited moderate organizational citizenship behaviour as represented by its overall mean score. Finally, results of the study indicated that shared leadership explained 36.4 per cent of the variance in organizational citizenship behaviour, meaning that the practice of shared leadership in the workplace has prediction power of 36.4 in organizational citizenship behaviour of faculty members. The study ended by offering a number of practical and theoretical implications for the field of study.

Popular Film as an Instructional Strategy in Qualitative Research Methods Courses

Johnny Saldaña
 Arizona State University

Abstract

The purpose of this article is to provide university instructors pedagogical applications for popular film in graduate-level qualitative research methods courses. Media instruction has a longstanding tradition in Grade K-12 classrooms, and the power of "edutainment" in our visually oriented, electronically mediated, and performative culture should not be underestimated or dismissed by university professors for their masters- and doctoral-level classrooms. Excerpts from strategically selected popular films introduce qualitative research topics, illustrate basic principles and techniques of inquiry, generate classroom discussion and reflection, clarify misunderstood constructs, function as referential mnemonics, and teach selected principles more effectively than traditional classroom pedagogy. In these film excerpts, art imitates qualitative life, and art is used to teach the science of naturalistic inquiry.

To Be or Not to Be a Profession: Pros, Cons and Challenges for Evaluation

Abstract

Debates on the professionalization of evaluation regularly fuel controversies. Evaluation literature contains varied points of view in favour of or against means of restricting access to the profession and quality control mechanisms. This article examines the aims pursued (e.g. institutionalization, quality improvement, ethical practice) and challenges faced by the promoters of the professionalization of evaluation. It also presents the mechanisms and means envisioned in Canada by the Société québécoise d'évaluation de programme (Québec Society of Programme Evaluation: SGEP) designed to address these points. These mechanisms include the drafting process of an evaluation charter, membership of a professional order and evaluator certification. This article is based on a documentary review and an analysis of semi-directed interviews conducted with current and former members of the SGEP and its administrative council. These results help to fuel debates in matters of the professionalization of evaluative practice which arise in most contexts where evaluation has reached a certain maturity.
