

ON Semiconductor is FORTUNE's 500 company, leading supplier of semiconductor-based solutions for automotive, communications, computing, consumer industrial, medical and aerospace markets with headquarters in Phoenix, Arizona.

Automotive Service Operations B2B Supply Analyst

Job Description:

- Managing forecast of our Automotive partners located in the North American region
- Business to business relations with established industry partners
- Analyses of production demands and reporting overall business situation of automotive markets
- Building positive and dedicated counterpart relationship with business partners in N. America
- Developing and managing tactical supply decisions to automotive production

Our company provides:

- Full training for the successful candidates
- Pleasant working environment in our facilities in Piešťany
- Competitive salary and many employee benefits
- Career opportunities locally and globally
- Overseas business travel opportunities

We are looking for new colleagues who are:

- open minded young people who would like to start a career in attractive industry
- creative in problem solving and accurate at work
- taking ownership and responsibility
- able to analytically work with data
- English is a must (verbal & written)
- Willing to work US working hours
- Familiar with Excel, PowerPoint and Outlook

If you are interested in this position or know a suitable candidate, please send the CV in English to jobpy@onsemi.com

see further open positions

