Bekaert Experience 2010

Time to start thinking about your career - what about participating to the Bekaert Experience 2010?

Dear engineer-to-be,

Your studies are almost over and your career is calling

Now is a good time to gather some unique business related experience and position yourself even better for your professional future.

From 17 until 19 December 2010 Bekaert is organizing the Bekaert Experience 2010 at Europe's most prestigious business school, CEDEP-INSEAD in Fontainebleau, France.

During this weekend you will participate in lectures, business cases and leadership training sessions. Bekaert employees from a variety of divisions and from different countries will share their experience with you; and you will meet with fellow students from technical universities from across Europe. All of this makes the Bekaert Experience 2010 a truly world-class management development course!

Interested? Please go to campus.bekaert.jobs for registration and information about the selection process. Registration deadline: Thursday 28th October.

Hope to see you in Fontainebleau!
